FROM: Solomon Sies, Hearing Officer

SUBJECT: Joint Venture of MacLean-Grove Co., Inc.
and George M. Brewster & Son, Inc.

Application for revision or refund of unincorporated business taxes under Article 16-A of the Tax Law for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1959.

x-ray

A hearing with reference to the above matter was held before me at 80 Centre Street, New York, N. Y., on January 20, 1966. The appearances and evidence produced were as shown in the stenographic minutes and exhibits submitted herewith.

The primary issue involved herein is whether the joint venture consisting of two foreign corporations engaged in the construction of a tunnel in Delaware County, State of New York for the New York City Board of Water Supply is exempt from unincorporated business taxes on the ground that this constituted an isolated transaction. A corollary issue is whether the definition of an "unincorporated business" contained in Section 386 of the Tax Law includes a joint venture consisting of two corporations.

George M. Brewster & Son, Inc. is a foreign corporation organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey, maintaining its principal place of business at Bogota, New Jersey. MacLean-Grove Co., Inc. is a foreign corporation organized under the laws of Delaware. Both corporations are authorized to do business in this State. On September 24, 1956 the two corporations entered into a pre-bidding agreement relative to the construction of a portion of the West Delaware Water Tunnel of the Delaware Water System in the Town of Colchester, Delaware County, New York for the New York City Board of Water Supply. As a result of the submission of a bid, the contract was awarded by the City of New York Board of Water Supply to the joint venture of MacLean-Grove Co., Inc. and George M. Brewster & Son, Inc.

On October 16, 1956 the two corporations entered into a joint venture agreement for the construction of the tunnel. The profits and losses were to be divided sixty percent to MacLean-Grove Co., Inc. and forty percent to George M. Brewster & Son, Inc. The venture reported its taxable income on a finished contract basis. Under the terms of the contract the construction was to be completed within five years. However, the job was completed on or about August 28, 1959. The joint venture maintained a field office at the site of the construction in this State, hired employees and supervised the operations of the construction of the tunnel.

The joint venture filed a partnership return for the fiscal period beginning June 1, 1959 and ending December 31, 1959 but did not file any unincorporated business tax form claiming that it was exempt therefrom on the ground that this was an isolated transaction. The Income Tax Bureau issued an assessment holding the joint venture subject to unincorporated business tax, prorated the statutory exemption and allowed the joint venturers additional exemptions pursuant to Section 386-f of the Tax Law and assessed the joint venture unincorporated business tax in the sum of $45,974.94. The taxpayers paid the assessment and now seek a refund.

The taxpayers contend that this joint venture did not constitute a "partnership"; that during the year in issue a corporation could not enter into any partnership agreement (Frieda Pepkow Corp. v. Stack, 103 N.Y.S. 2d 507); that this was an isolated transaction not subject to unincorporated business tax in accordance with the provisions of Article 7 Unincorporated Business Tax Regulations; that the joint venturers are being taxed twice, once for franchise taxes and again for unincorporated business tax purposes on the same income.

Subdivision 11, Section 350 of the Tax Law defines a "partnership" to include a syndicate, group, pool, joint venture or any other unincorporated organization, through or by means of which any business, financial operation or venture is carried on or being liquidated and that the members thereof shall be deemed "partners". Section 386, Article 16-A of the Tax Law, provides, in part, that for the purposes of this Article, the definitions contained in Section 350 shall be applicable.

Income Tax Bureau Manual, Business Tax, Article 7, Page 1 (5/15/59) states:

"A joint enterprise or venture may be made up entirely of corporations, or corporations and banks, or corporations and/or partnership and individuals, etc. If the activities of such an organization constitute the carrying on of an unincorporated business wholly or partly within New York State, such entity is subject to Business Tax, regardless of the identity of the various participants."

RE: Joint Venture of MacLean-Grove Co., Inc.
and George M. Brewster & Son, Inc.

Article 7, Business Tax Regulations, Q.46 states, in effect, that a joint venture is engaged in an unincorporated business when it is conducting or engaged in a business of the kind and character and in such manner that, if it were engaged in and conducted by an individual, such individual would be said to be conducting or engaged in an unincorporated business.

The case of Frieda Popkey Corp. v. Stack, 163 N.Y.S. 2d 507, was brought in Supreme Court, New York County, Special Term, to impress a trust on certain realty purchased by defendant on ground that defendant had violated an alleged partnership or joint venture agreement. The Supreme Court, Special Term, Wassevogel, Official Referee held that the evidence did not establish a joint venture; that the general consensus of legal authority and opinion in this State prohibits a corporation from entering into a partnership agreement.

Permitting a corporation to promote other business enterprises and to engage in a joint venture is consistent with New York case law Red Robin Stores, Inc. v. Rose, 274 App. Div. 462.

It has been held that though a corporation has no implied power to form a partnership with an individual, nevertheless if the partnership contract was fully executed, the individual cannot set up legal invalidity of such contract. Fatum v. Acadia Production Corporation of Louisiana, 35 F. Supp. 40.

Section 202(a)(15) of the Business Corporation Law (Laws of 1961, Chapter 655) provides that a corporation shall have power "to be a promoter, partner, member, associate or manager of other business enterprises or ventures, or to the extent permitted in any other jurisdiction to be an incorporator of other corporations of any type or kind."

I am of the opinion that the joint venture of MacLean-Grove Co., Inc. and George M. Brewster & Son, Inc. constituted a partnership, for tax purposes, as defined in subdivision 11, Section 350, Article 16 of the Tax Law; that the activities of the joint venture conducted with continuity and regularity wholly within the State of New York for approximately four years constituted the carrying on of an unincorporated business within this State subject to unincorporated business tax in accordance with the provisions of Section 386, Article 16-A of the Tax Law.

For the reasons stated above, I recommend that the determination of the Tax Commission in this matter be substantially in the form submitted herewith.
